

Delta Engineering – Operational Buyer

Operational Buyer

As an Operational Buyer, you will manage international suppliers, negotiate commercial terms, and issue purchase orders based on MRP needs. You will oversee order follow-up, stock balance, and ERP data accuracy while resolving delivery or quality issues. Working closely with the Belgium headquarters team, you will actively drive cost-reduction strategies and ensure a seamless material flow for production. This role is also open for young technical graduates that have an inclination towards a buyer role - an understanding of how your technical background can be used efficiently to perfect a purchasing strategy.

Responsibilities:

- Sourcing and supplier selection: You find and select suppliers for parts and materials. You help build a strong, reliable network of international suppliers across a range of technical product categories.
- Quotations and negotiation: You request and evaluate quotations, compare prices and terms, and negotiate prices, commercial terms and contracts.
- Ordering: You turn what MRP and the other departments need into purchase orders in the ERP system, in line with the conditions you negotiated.
- Order follow-up and delivery: You make sure orders arrive on time and as agreed. If there are delays or problems, you act quickly with the supplier, planning and production to find a solution.
- Supplier issues and discrepancies: You handle wrong or non-conforming parts, including arranging returns.
- Stock management: You monitor stock levels and look for the right balance between availability and stock costs.
- ERP master data: You keep prices, lead times and delivery terms in the ERP system accurate and up to date.
- Cost and strategy: You help reduce costs and shape the sourcing strategy, working closely with the procurement team at our headquarters in Belgium.

Your profile:

- strong desire for personal development
- ability to learn quickly
- strong communication skills in both English and Romanian
- a technical degree is considered a plus
- experience as a buyer is considered a plus

Our offer:

- We offer an exciting role in an international, growth-oriented work environment.
- Learning and development opportunities within an open and collaborative team.
- A motivating benefits package.
